

Pictures of the program

Here are a pair of pictures of the user interface in order to get a quick look without installing all the needed software.

First picture is the starting page of the gui. Page has a couple of bases for charts as well as buttons for selecting wanted operations.

In the second picture the selection menu has been opened for retrieval of a new dataset. There are options for different kinds of data as well as an interactive calendar to specify a time period.